Dear Friends of the Preborn,

Throughout this year, we have traveled far and wide (even as far as Portugal) to speak up on behalf of the preborn. We often report to you about our efforts on the Tours and campuses. But what has remained the main focus of this mission is to minister at the death camps themselves. All this year the missionaries have continued on at the doors of death. Day after day. Week after week. Month after month. And because of their efforts, I can report to you that scores of preborn babies have been spared a brutal, unjust death this year!

Most of the moms who decide to keep their babies are not in need of any help. But for those who are, the missionaries provide help and friendship. Recently, one young woman came to kill her child at one of the death camps. She stopped to talk with one of the missionaries and decided to not kill her child! The missionary gave her a ride home and has remained in touch, helping coordinate her material needs.

We will continue with the Tours, campuses, and the host of other efforts on behalf of the preborn - look on the reverse of this page for upcoming major Tours for 2008 - but our main focus remains at the death camps themselves. There people are dying. There people need to be offered help and/or rebuked.

Please remember the missionaries (and other Christians) who faithfully minister outside these places of death in your prayers. The ministry there can be hard and wearisome, but is so needed. There must be a Christian witness outside these places of killing. Consider also coming out to the abortuaries. Bring fellow Christians from church or other homeschoolers you know. Bring your own family. Often when people stand outside one of these death chambers, they no longer view abortion as just some abstract political issue, but rather for what it really is, the horrible killing of a helpless person. They realize - these are real women, carrying real babies who are really about to die. And we need to act and minister. May the Lord be glorified through our lives!

This woman stopped to talk with missionary Anne just outside the doors of death.

Pastor Matt Trewhella

p.s. Because of your financial support of our mission, these missionaries are able to be on the frontlines of this battle - at the very doors of death themselves! Thank you so much!

Did not He who made me in the womb make them? Did not the same One form us both within our mothers? -Job 31:15

2008 EVENTS CALENDAR

COLORADO TOUR

August 18th-29th

Why Colorado? Three reasons.

1. The people of Colorado will be voting on a Human Life Amendment in November 2008. If passed, it could be used to challenge Roe or it could provoke a showdown with the federal government.
2. Planned Parenthood is trying to build and open a new super-killing center in Aurora, Colorado like they did in Aurora, Illinois.
3. The Democratic National Convention is being held in Denver from August 24th-28th. We will be there to raise a standard and declare the truth of God's Word.

Missouri Campus Tour ⇨ March 31st - April 3rd

Iowa Campus Tour ⇨ April 21st - 24th

Wisconsin Campus Tour ⇨ September 22nd - 25th

Wisconsin Mississippi River Tour ⇨ October 13th - 17th

We will make stops to set up and/or lit-drop every town along the Mississippi River on the Wisconsin side from the farthest northern point to the most southern point!

Monthly Tour = DELAVAN

Saturday, December 15th, 2007 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Hwy 50 (Geneva St.) & Borg Road

PLANNED PARENTHOOD REOPENS

After being closed for more than five months, the Planned Parenthood abortuary in Milwaukee has reopened. They closed in June saying they would reopen in six weeks. They never did reopen however until mid-November. It appears they needed a new abortionist, and now Susan Pflieger, who murders babies at the Affiliated abortuary, is killing at PP too. Missionaries to the Preborn has started a campaign exposing her at her office with Aurora Health Care in Fox Point.

Another flyer exposing Pflieger is given out to a passer-by.

The Stampeding of the Lambs: 2008

By Pastor Matt Trehwella

The Republican Party, having failed to learn its lesson in 2006, is moving more to the left than to the right. They have even put up, and are heavily promoting, their poster-boy Rudy Giuliani. Sadly, those who should speak the loudest against such a move are rather speaking up in support of him. Conservative and Christian leaders have come out in support of Giuliani, and many more have made it clear they will support him if he ends up being the Party's nomination.

Rudy Giuliani is pro-abortion, pro-homosexual, and anti-Second Amendment. He also makes public appearances as a transvestite. Yet, Sean Hannity with his "stop Hillary at any cost express" has Giuliani on his show regularly and has done all he can to soften the Christian community up to the idea of a Giuliani presidency.

Bill Bennett, Mr. Virtue, recently told listeners they need to be willing to set aside their greatest issue (abortion) and "support Rudy Giuliani." Michael Medved said, "I haven't endorsed Rudy Giuliani yet," though he has had many positive things to say about him. Hugh Hewitt has said plainly that "yes" he will support Rudy Giuliani if he is the Party's nomination.

I didn't think I would need to write about this matter, but I am amazed at how many Christians have expressed the same sentiment. The reason they do so is because American Christianity has tied itself to the Republican/conservative political wagon. Because most pulpits in America do not preach about matters of civil government, the conservative talking-heads have filled the void. Hence, most Christians get their political views and take their political cues from "conservatives" rather than the Word of God.

In the world of the present breed of conservatives, it is principle be damned – all that matters is making sure Hillary isn't elected and a Republican is – at any cost. This is one way the Republican/conservative leadership keeps Christians on their political hamster wheel – by scaring them and stampeding them into voting for the lesser-of-two-evils.

Many other conservative talking-heads are carrying water for Giuliani, but probably the most shocking endorsement came from CBN founder, Pat Robertson. Robertson tried to justify his endorsement on Hannity and Combs by saying "this election is about one thing – judges, judges, judges." He is talking about Supreme Court Judge appointees.

This is another way the Republican/conservative leadership stampedes the Christians into voting for their candidate – with a mantra we have heard for 35 years – whoever is elected president will appoint Supreme Court Justices. For some reason this still holds weight for many, even though there have been ten judges replaced since Roe v. Wade – eight of which were replaced by Republican presidents - and there has always been at least a 7-2 Republican-appointed majority during the last 35 years! (Remember it was a 7-2 Republican-appointed majority Supreme Court which legalized abortion in 1973).

Yet abortion remains legal. When will we learn that the Republican Party leadership doesn't really want abortion to end in America? Abortion is far too useful a tool to keep the substantial Christian voting-bloc stampeded behind their candidate. Many claim Giuliani will only appoint "strict constructionist judges." Anyone with a brain knows that doesn't mean a thing given the precedence the Court has ruled on and upheld over the last 70 years. (over)

In the world of conservatives, it is principle be damned – all that matters is making sure Hillary isn't elected and a Republican is – at any cost. Even if that means casting your vote for the likes of a Giuliani. For too long Christians have been voting for the lesser-of-two-evils, now look how evil the lesser has become. When will we realize that the longer we keep on supporting the lesser-of-two-evils, the harder it will be on our nation when we finally stop?

If the Republican Party nominates Rudy Giuliani, the wisest thing we can do is to not vote for Rudy Giuliani. Perhaps if the Republicans didn't figure it out in 2006, a drubbing in 2008 will sober them up. You don't have to vote. Your vote is the currency of your virtue. And sometimes 'not voting' speaks louder than playing the whore by voting for the lesser-of-two-evils.

WAL-MART UPDATE

In July, Wal-Mart announced that it would no longer fund the National Gay and Lesbian Chamber of Commerce! We informed our e-mail subscribers of this good change back then, but haven't had room in our snail mail to inform you of it until now. Other good changes have also been made by Wal-Mart regarding their no longer courting the homosexual agenda, although all is not perfect. Also, Wal-Mart has ceased funding Planned Parenthood! Although they do sell Plan B (as does every other national pharmacy that we know of). The changes at Wal-Mart show what good effect a small number of Christians can have when they take a stand and call a corporation to account!

NOW, Wal-Mart is being boycotted by the homosexuals! The Human Rights Campaign, a political activist organization bent on shoving the filth of sodomy down American's throats, has called for the boycott. In fact, they have a list wherein they rate many corporations regarding their complicity with the homosexual agenda. You can visit their website at www.hrc.org/issues/workplace/ceihome.asp and click on the "2008 Corporation Equality Index." You can then click on "Appendix C" and see the ratings of how much the various corporations in America are in bed with the homosexual agenda. You will notice that Wal-Mart now has a very low/bad rating from this sodomite group compared to other retailers.

Therefore, several Christian organizations have encouraged people to shop at Wal-Mart to blunt and repudiate the sodomite boycott. The results have been great! Wal-Mart declared a 60% increase in sales for Black Friday this year! Hopefully, Wal-Mart (and other corporations) will see that it is wise not to spit in the face of families by promoting homosexuality. We do not want this filth shoved down the throats of our sons and daughters.

If you would like to thank Wal-Mart for the changes they have made and encourage them to continue in a righteous pro-family direction, you can reach them at:
